Our KNOTTICKIOUS
KNITTING

If you are a regular reader of Knitting magazine, you will know that each month we put together our collection of knits based around a theme. Often it will be as much about the styling of the shoot as it is about the design of the garments, which our Style File pages (page 34) demonstrate admirably each month. The themes are always important though, however random they may appear in the initial stages, because they often take the issue in directions we hadn't previously considered.

The 'cocktail hour' theme was initially more about the colours chosen for the yarns – bright jewel tones, following the summer trend for tropical shades. What I hadn't expected was how such vibrant hues bring garments alive, adding something so much more than an interesting shape or technique could simply do on its own. But don't take my word for it. Turn to page 22 to view this month's stunning gallery and see for yourself the power of colour.

Erika Knight's stash project this issue is all about the legwarmer! For a quick knit project (and an introduction to knitting in the round) and some instant 80's glamour follow Erika's lead on page 46.

As frustrating as it is to be endlessly informed by those 'in the know' that knitting is enjoying something of a resurgence (who knew?), what I believe to be far more interesting is why it is making such regular appearances as integral parts of big branding campaigns. This month, Clare Kelly looks at what it is about our noble craft that is attracting such high profile attention in our feature 'A brand new world' (page 41).

Along with gorgeous patterns, features, tips and advice, I hope you enjoy everything we have in store for you in this issue as we welcome in the spring. ●

Knit Nation returns

It's back! After the triumph of last summer's phenomenally successful show, Knit Nation is returning to London for 15-17 July. Returning to Imperial College, Knit Nation will again be host to amazing teachers, including Susan Crawford, Franklin Habit and, of course, Colette A. Popular vendors like Yselda, The Little Knitting Company, Loop – and us! – will be holding fort in the busy marketplace. The list of workshops and schedules will be up soon too. Just keep checking www.knitnation.co.uk at the Knit Nation Facebook and Twitter pages.

As a knit-along up to the big day we have two Knit Nation mascot crochet badge patterns to download for free from our website www.knittinginstitute.co.uk. Choose from a sheep or a pug, whip them up and wear them with pride at Knit Nation – a quick way for fellow Knitting readers to identify themselves and say hello!

Prima Ballerina

By Kat Picot

David Koma SS 2011

Luisa Beccaria SS 2011

David Koma SS 2011

Ballerina silhouettes and romantic colour palettes take centre stage giving a demure and delicate look for Spring. Luisa Beccaria takes the lead with sheer fabrics and sherbet shades while David Koma combines geometric panels with tutu-esque skirts, both will look beautiful paired with delicate knits. For a more contemporary look combine classic shapes with black and metallics to really stand out.

For those of us preferring to leave the actual dancing to the pros I recommend setting aside an evening for Darren Aronofsky's critically acclaimed Black Swan.

Natalie Portman gives an Oscar winning performance in the lead role of tormented dancer Nina as she prepares to take the roles of both the innocent white swan and sultry, sinister black swan for a production of Swan Lake.

KIT
(Knit it yourself)

Legwarmers are a must-have for ballerinas in practice and for trendsetters wanting to look the part. Try this tonal design featured in Luxe Knits: The Accessories by Laura Zukalle, $17.99, ISBN 978 1 60059 585 1

Delicate, lacey knits go hand in hand with demure, ballerina style. Try your hand at this elegant cropped cardigan from Debbie Bliss Angel.

Add a bit of drama to proceedings with this theatrical little mask from Bergerie Accessories gallery No 155, pattern no. 64

What to wear with

Embrace the trend wholeheartedly and invest in a tutu skirt, team with a pretty bodysuit and must have pumps. Keep styling simple, grooming immaculate and a hair in an elegant chignon.

On course

Accessories such as legwarmers and headbands make great projects for beginners. If you are new to the hobby try a knitting class with London based Tea and Crafting. Cost includes bamboo knitting needles and a ball of yarn to get you going. Groups will be no larger than eight giving a cosy, friendly atmosphere.

This month: Barbaro Sidwell of Fiddlesticks
Tel: 01404 47676

Email: barbara@fiddlestickssdevon.co.uk

Website: www.fiddlestickssdevon.co.uk

In April we celebrate the fourth anniversary of the opening of our shop in Honiton and this third anniversary of our website. Fiddlesticks has become something of a split personality as the yarns we sell online are not necessarily the same as those in the shop. In the shop the aim is to stock yarns for all pockets and for value for money.

Stylecraft's Luxury Merino and Phases and Sirdar's Indle and Connemara have sold quickly and delivery of the new Sirdar Summer Stripes will be another must have for the warmer weather.

We are also a Designer Yarns stockist and, as always, the Debbie Bliss Baby Cashmerino and Eco Baby range are great sellers and the patterns are interchangeable too.

The new Angel Yarn from Debbie Bliss is very popular, the colours are gorgeous and the yarn is so easy to knit as it doesn't 'stick' to itself. We hope there will be more colours added to the range soon.

There are lots of passionate sock knitters out there and a definite favourite in the shop and online is the Long Jawoll Magic Sock Yarn, a hard-wearing yarn with a soft touch. We also stock Opal, Regio, Rico and Noro sock yarn. Honiton is a popular 'stop off' town for holiday makers en route to Cornwall and a ball of sock yarn and KnitPro DPNs is a must if it rains!

Our website sells the complete range of Bergere de France yarns and patterns – known for their beautiful styling as well as their lovely yarns. Their baby patterns are stunning with perfect attention to detail.

At Fiddlesticks we have an amazing range of buttons, from all over the world, including many made in Devon – plus all the usual knitting notions with Brittany, KnitPro and Pony needles.

Our birthday week is the last week in April and there will be birthday cake every day and you are welcome to sit and knit in the shop every afternoon. If you're in town please join us.

We have a fortnightly knitting club (Thursdays) at Colour Wheel Plants, everyone welcome to join our friendly and informal group. Contact the shop for details.

£17.99

Published by Lark Crafts

ISBN 978 1 60059 585 1

More couture knits and unusual designs from Lithuanian-born New Yorker Laura Zúkalte. A follow on from her successful debut, Luxe Knits, Laura's second book concentrates on an array of accessories knitted in some seriously sumptuous yarn. Amongst the glamorous gloves, scarves and purses there a couple of slightly mod items but Laura's sketches are always a nice touch, providing a background for each design and an artistic edge.

The Ultimate Book of Baby Knits

By Debbie Bliss

£16.99

Published by Quadrille Publishing

ISBN 978 1 84400 945 9

This is a collection of Debbie's 50 favourite patterns for babies and toddlers up to 2, from her three most recent books. It features patterns for garments, toys, blankets and other nursery items all knitted in soft, low-maintenance yarns that are easy to wash and care for – essential to a mother! They may be projects that you have seen before but having them all in one place makes a great store cupboard of patterns to be able to go straight to.

Indie Craft

By Jo Waterhouse

£12.95

Published by Laurence King Publishing

ISBN 978 1 85669 696 8

Craft has always blurred the line between art and traditional methods, but with the rise of the internet, the backlash against mass-consumerism and the modernisation of 'make do and mend' giving craft a trendier, more subversive image it wasn't going to be long before the term 'indie craft' was coined. Here, Waterhouse (an avid crafter herself) is celebrating the best of the contemporary 'new wave' crafters – controversial, ironic, humorous. From Shauna Richardson and Kate Jenkins to Patricia Waller and Emily Peacock, it's a veritable who's who of international indie crafters.

Debbie Bliss Bella

This lovely new yarn from Debbie Bliss is mainly cotton with a luxurious touch of silk and cashmere. It is available in 16 clear, bright shades and the sample is shown in shade 16. Bella knits to a tension of 22 sts and 30 rows to 10cm. There are eight patterns for women in the supporting pattern book also called Bella. The stunning designs include a mix of cable, lace and intarsia in sculptured shapes and elegant styles. It is a beautiful yarn to knit with and looks equally good in colour work or cable. Machine wash at 30 degrees.

Lang Lyon

A luxurious silk and linen blend that knits into a smooth fabric with clear, well-defined stitches. The cabled twist of multi-fibres can split so a little care is needed and blunt ended knitting needles will help. However, the effect when knitted is gorgeous, luxuriously silky to handle with a soft shimmer. Lyon is available in 14 colours, the sample is shown in shade 74 bright green. It will knit to a tension of 25 sts and 34 rows to 10cm, pattern support is available in the Lang book No.182 and a ladies sweater takes approximately 10 balls. Machine washable on a gentle cycle.

Gedifra Rosas

A unique new novelty yarn from Gedifra, Rosas is woven from a fine mesh interspersed with colourful bobbles that glisten and sparkle. It is available in 10 colour combinations that range from soft spring shades of rose flecked with lime and gold to a vibrant fiery orange with splashes of fuchsia and lime. The sample is shown in shade 01701. It knits to a tension of 17 sts and 27 rows over 10cm and patterns for summery tops can be found in the books 'Gedifra Moments 224' and 'Gedifra Highlights 111'. A short-sleeved sweater takes approximately 13 balls. Hand washing is recommended.

Noro Aya

This lovely new summer weight yarn from Noro has the distinctive blend of multi-coloured shades that Noro is recognised for and is available in eight mouth-watering colourways. The knitted sample is shown in shade 2, a gorgeous blend of turquoise, pink and purple. It feels very soft to handle and knits up with clear even stitches and a hint of texture from the slubby finish. Pattern support is available in Noro Volume 27, Noro for Kids by Jane Ellison and Flowers 2 by Jenny Watson. Aya will knit to a tension 20 sts and 26 rows to 10cm, which is close to a standard double knit gauge. Hand washing is recommended.

Rico Design Big Cotton Super Chunky

This fantastic new super chunky cotton blend is perfect for big summer knits. Suitable for both knitting and crochet, the supporting pattern book has 9 designs for bags, crochet hats, scarves, sweaters and cardigans. The recommended tension of 6 sts and 9 rows to 10cm gives a thick firm knit, though it would also work on larger needles creating an open lacy design that will keep the weight down. It is a multi stranded yarn, so take a little care not to split, but it is lovely to work with and grows in a flash. Big Cotton Super Chunky is available in 12 shades ranging from natural through to a vivid orange and the turquoise shown in the sample. A long sleeved sweater takes approx 13 x 100g balls. Machine wash on a cool cycle and dry flat.

Rico Creative Sport DK

This gorgeous soft yarn knits up evenly with well defined stitches and a lovely drape. Dralon is a high quality man-made fibre, creating a durable yarn that retains its shape and doesn't pill. Sport DK knits to a tension 22 sts and 28 rows to 10cm, there is no pattern support at the time of writing but it can be used with most standard DK patterns. Available in a range of 10 bright summery shades, the sample is shown in 007 Turquoise. Machine washable on a cool cycle.

Who's a pretty boy then

I have been knitting off and on for a while but have never learnt to follow a pattern or hold my needles properly – however I am not discouraged and like to experiment!

One of my best experiments so far has been a little knitted parrot, aptly named 'The Real Macaw', which I made for a fancy dress pirate pub crawl organised by my work.

He turned out so well that I even won the 'best-dressed pirate' prize of a bottle of grog and have had some requests to create other creations.

I am currently working on a 'Jacob wolf for a very dear friend of mine who is totally bonkers, slightly obsessed with knitting and the famous Twilight series.

I have recently joined a local knitting group that meets every other Tuesday at the Royal Festival Hall, London and am picking up some really good tips. One day, who knows, I might even learn how to do it properly!

FOR THOSE WHO LOVE TO KNIT

ABOVE Hattie wearing her folisje jumper
LEFT Billie models his cow cardigan

Pass it on

There is no greater joy than knitting for children. Especially my beloved grandchildren. Debbie Bliss's Fairyard Knits was a great favourite.

When granddaughter Hattie (now 12) was only 2 or 3 years old I enjoyed every minute of knitting the Duck and Sheep Fairisle Cardigan with bands of fairisle for her. Being a Debbie Bliss pattern it was a loose fit and, with the sleeves made long enough to turn back, Hattie had a lot of wear out of it. It looked so good that when it was too small that it was passed on to her cousin Hazel.

When Hattie's brother Billy was born the Cow Cardigan was an ideal cardigan for a farmer's son and he looked so good in it. This was also passed down the family. Around eight years ago my youngest daughter asked me to knit the sailor collared sweater with duck motifs for her sister-in-law's new baby. Our youngest daughter is now half way through her pregnancy for her first baby and was delighted when her sister-in-law passed the same sweater back to her. It had been worn by both her niece and nephew and, apart from needing new ties around the ducks' necks, it is just as good as new.

In addition to the planned knitting for a new grandchild my eye was caught by the lovely aran weight Hooded Top (K87) that fits from 6 months to 7 years. I think new baby and Billy will be having one each for next winter especially if it's as cold as the last!

Thank you for including patterns for the young ones. Perhaps some time in the future I can get back to knitting some of the other fabulous patterns for myself but, for now, the children come first.

Knitting goes stateside

In December I was caught up in the disruption caused both sides of the Atlantic by the heavy snowfall. My departure from New York was delayed by five days, so I had extra time to amuse myself.

I ended up in the Fifth Avenue branch of Barnes & Noble, I was delighted to find a copy of Knitting Magazine!

Eventually I flew home to the UK on Christmas Day arriving on Boxing Day at Heathrow, with my magazine to read on the flight!

Home Energy Scotland encourages keeping homes 'cosy'

A brand new world

From newspaper advertising to billboard campaigns, knitting is getting cosy with some big name brands, as Clare Kelly finds out.

When was the last time you went to your knitting group and spotted someone knitting pieces of breakfast cereal or even fashioning a bobble hat for a house? It probably hasn't happened yet but that doesn't mean it won't. Knitters around the UK are getting involved with some rather exciting projects for corporate clients in branding and advertising. ▶

TOP: Jeanette's Consumer Direct Campaign
ABOVE: Home Energy Scotland

Keth Stephenson, creative director of branding agency Absolute Zero Degrees believes "there are two levels to the approach of knitting represented in advertising and media. One is the soft and cuddly nature; the other is more 'craftivism', using traditional methods to create something entirely new."

But why is this happening now? "Crafting and knitting have really come to the fore for a number of social reasons, a need for security commissions, which have included a TV advert for Home Energy Scotland and a print campaign for Consumer Direct.

For Home Energy Scotland, Jeanette was given the gigantic task of knitting 'two fully fashioned old-style BT telephones, one 10 digit phone number, one bobble hat knitting in the round of normal head size and one bobble hat to fit the scale model of a house.'

Edinburgh-based advertising agency, Story,

"There are two levels to the approach of knitting represented in advertising and media. One is the soft and cuddly nature; the other is more 'craftivism', using traditional methods to create something entirely new."

and comfort in an economically unstable society, sustainability and a growth in interest green issues and a need for self expression," explains Keith. "The big trend in 1940's visual styling epitomised by Keep Calm and Carry On was also underpinned with the war years 'make do and mend' slogan."

When she's not helping you make do and mend, Jeanette Sloan, Knitting's very own agony aunt, undertakes a range of called on Jeanette's expertise: "The agency got me involved and wanted me to produce pieces that would unravel. This involved a lot of liaising with the production team who were making the advert. The house in the advert is in a Glasgow street and this was reproduced to scale for the bobble hat. I had to keep unraveling the hat, little by little which took about 4 hours," explains Jeanette.

Ripping up all that hard work must be a little disheartening though? "Not really, I'm used to jobs like that. You can't be precious as the advert must fulfill a brief and keep the client happy. Often, clients want everything yesterday so it can be quite exhausting."

The Home Energy Scotland advert is one that, by its very nature, intends to make the consumer feel warm and fuzzy but there are other adverts, which have had more of a mixed reception. Take breakfast cereal Shreddies and their 'knitting nanas' for example. Like Marmite, you either love it or you hate it, with some feeling that the advert's portrayal of the older generation is a little patronising.

However, Craig Turner, marketing manager of Shreddies would almost certainly disagree: "Shreddies is an iconic British breakfast cereal brand with a one of a kind unique shape. People told us there was something special about those Shreddies squares that made them unlike any other cereal. A trip to the factory showed us how Shreddies weaves together four layers of whole grain into each square, it is like a giant knitting machine, and an idea was born. The advertising gurus imagined the product being knitted by a factory full of nanas who lovingly craft each and every Shreddies square with care and devotion."

So successful was this concept that although it first launched in 2007, it is still in use today, as Craig explains: "It was an immediate hit with knitters and non-knitters alike. In fact, it was in the top ten favourite ads of the year (right behind the drum playing gorilla) and today the Knitting Nanas have over a quarter of a million fans on Facebook. "Surely more than 250,000 people can't be wrong? Whatever your opinion of the advert, it has definitely introduced knitting to a new audience, albeit unconventionally.

There is no question that knitting lends itself well to campaigns concerned with warmth and organisations harnessing this have potential to reach the masses. But more than that, they can engage the audience in matters that may affect us all.

Macmillan Cancer Support recently enlisted the help of marketing and technology agency LBi to create Infi-knit, a web-powered knitting machine that would raise awareness of the charity's fuel poverty campaign. Laura Keely, campaigns manager at Macmillan Cancer Support, explains how it worked: "The Infi-knit website asked people 'what makes you feel warm?' which prompted the Infi-knit machine to add a new, unique piece of knitting to our woolly scarf petition. Web cams recorded the Infi-knit carrying out its unique stitch, so people could watch their bit of knitting being created."

Would Laura agree that there is a natural association between knitting and caring? "For Macmillan, there was definitely a natural association between knitting and our fuel poverty campaign. The knitting community is very large and active. We know that knitters are very keen to get involved in charity campaigns after the success of our award-winning Comfort Blanket campaign in 2009," she says. "This campaign raised £35,000 by asking supporters to meet up with friends and stitch squares together into a blanket over cake for Macmillan's World's Biggest Coffee Morning. We thought it'd be great to do another knitting-related campaign and get more knitters on board."

"We've found that knitting has appealed to all kinds of people from top celebrities, amateur knitters or just people who are keen to have a go."

Thousands of virtual knitters contributed to the scarf that Macmillan presented to the Government in April. "Knitting has the power to make a statement," reveals Laura, "our super-sized woolly scarf petition is well over a hundred metres so it's hard to miss. It is a visual and powerful way of representing the support secured for the campaign and should draw the Government's attention to the plight of thousands of cancer patients living in fuel poverty."

Innocent Drinks are an example of a company with a young and funky image and, like Macmillan, have also understood the pin-wheeling power of knitting, launching The Big Knit eight years ago. Devised as a campaign to raise money for Age UK, it called on knitters to make mini bobble hats for Innocent's range of smoothies and juices. For each hat knitted, 25p is donated to the charity.

"We've been overwhelmed by the public support for this campaign, and it's grown each year. To date, we've been sent an incredible 2 million hats, and raised £800,000 for Age UK," enthuses Clemmie Nettlefold of Innocent Drinks, "we've found that knitting has appealed to all kinds of people from top celebrities, amateur knitters or just people who are keen to have a go. Now it's 2011 we're once again going to be asking people to get knitting, all to help older people to stay warm in winter."

In addition to making people feel cared for, knitting has a certain appeal to those in branding and advertising, evocative of simple home comforts, such as a freshly baked cake ▶ or a cup of warming tea.

Cosy Tea is a new range of eight organic teas whose knitted packaging has already led to the company winning two design awards. Jo Young of Cosy Tea is clearly a knitting fan: "The brand came about because we felt that the word 'cosy' was synonymous with the British experience of enjoying a cuppa. The tea cosy is also an affectionately regarded part of the British ritual of enjoying tea, and ties in wonderfully with the recent revival of the 'homemade' crafts, especially knitting, which has always held a wide appeal because it can be both beautiful and practical."

And rather than confine work on the brand to the office, Cosy Tea called on local knitters in Bristol to help out, ensuring each stitch was a perfect match for the tea. Jo reveals: "we chose the stitches we wanted to represent each tea, then invited local knitters to work their magic and produce a swatch which we then photographed and used on the pack. The name of each knitter and the stitch used is featured on each box."

Clearly, as knitters, we are already a captive audience but what about the general public, how did they feel about the brand? "The response to the packaging has been phenomenal. It's been so lovely to find that the public loves the packs and the knitting as much as we do, and as a set they look great. The packaging has also won two top design awards, so it's gratifying to know they are appreciated on a professional as well as personal/emotional level. The designer Luke Manning at Pencil Studio did a great job."

Unfortunately, you will hear stories of knitters being ripped off and this is something that all makers looking to sell their work need to be wary of. One knitter I spoke to was surprised when an image of one of her products turned up on a large retailer's website without her permission. Sadly, for the knitter in question, no credit was given and the only money she received was for the original sale of the item.

Of course, this could – and does – happen to many but if you're thinking of following Jeanette into the brand new world of knitting: "remember that all advertising is trend-driven and the item you make is not your baby. Once a campaign has been produced, it's quickly on to the next. That's just the way it is," she advises.

Trends are not always easy to predict but Keith believes that agencies will move away from the cosy elements of knitting and seek guerrilla-style knitting "to turn the perception of knitting on its head, such as the knitted toys in the Vauxhall Corsa C's union adverts, a line of which can be traced directly from Donna Wilson's knitted creatures."

None of us can predict just how long the ad agencies will have their eye on our knitting but who knows, this time next week you could be knitting something which could be seen by more people than you ever thought possible. ●

Is it for you? Here are some things to think about:

- You must enjoy working under pressure
- Don't undertake commissions for companies whose ethics are not suited to your own
- Remember that the item you produce is for the client, not your friend
- It's easy to fall for flattery. Be smart and make sure you confirm how much you'll be paid before you begin the project
- Never underestimate how long the job will take, or sell yourself short!

"None of us can predict just how long the ad agencies will have their eye on our knitting but who knows, this time next week you could be knitting something which could be seen by more people than you ever thought possible."

More stash than cash

This month Erika Knight gets nostalgic whipping up a pair of fabulous mohair legwarmers.

Mohair legwarmers

Considered during the '80s the ultimate fashion accessory and popularised by Madonna, Boy George and of course the entire cast of Fame, the legwarmer is now a classic!

Simple to knit/wear, perfect for using up some of your stash or an opportunity to indulge in a couple of balls of anything that takes your fancy.

These are knitted in the round for seamless chic, a basic little pattern and made in mohair – so 'de rigueur' back then. Make them shorter for Ugg boot snugness or longer for catwalk cachet!

Size

One size

You will need

3 x 25g balls rowan kid silk aura – damson shade 762
Set of four 5mm and 5.5mm double pointed needles
Stitch marker

Tension

16 stitches and 19 rows to 10cm over st st using 5.5mm needles.
Use larger or smaller needles if necessary to obtain correct tension.

To make legwarmers (both alike)

Using 5mm double pointed needles cast on 40 stitches loosely and divide between three needles as follows:

14 sts on first needle, 12 sts on second needle and 14 sts on third needle.

Join into a round, placing a stitch marker to show start of each round.

Work 14 rounds in knit 1, purl 1 rib, ending at marker.

Change to 5.5mm double pointed needles and continue in stocking stitch (all rounds are knit) until work measures 34cm from cast on edge, ending at marker.

Change to 5mm double pointed needles and work 14 rounds in knit 1, purl 1 rib, ending at marker. Cast off loosely in rib.

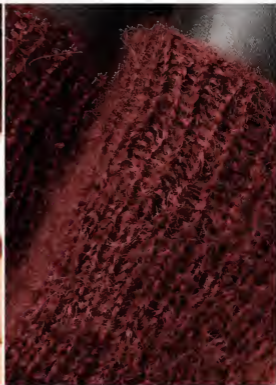

To finish

Weave in any lmg ends.

Do not press.

GALLERY GARMENT TECHNIQUES

Jeanette Sloan's guide to techniques used in this month's gallery

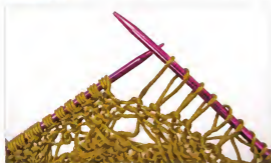

Cocktail dress by Amanda Jones – tackling the cross stitch

Pattern page: 58

Worked in the round on a circular needle this design combines columns of melon stitch and a lacy mock cable across the bodice with bands of cross stitch around the hems and waist.

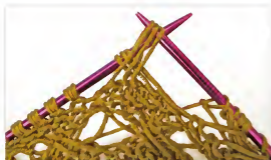

The cross stitch, whilst not difficult, can be a little tricky to tackle initially, but persevere and it becomes much easier. Let's pick it up after Round 2 having knitted wrapping the yarn 3 times around the needle for each stitch.

1. Slip the next 6 sts to the right needle letting the extra wraps drop between each st

2. Pass these elongated loops back to the left hand needle

3. Pass the last 3 sts over the first 3 but take care to leave them on the left-hand needle

4. Now working into these sts, k3 then k3 fbl. Your 6 sts are now crossed

Bell frill cardigan by Martin Storey – joining in the frills

The triple layers of the Lace Bell edging make this already pretty cardigan even more feminine. To create this flared effect the top two edges are knitted separately and then set aside on a spare needle for joining in on the 13th and 25th rows of the main pattern. If you'd prefer less volume at the bottom of this garment you could knit less frills, one for the Back and two for each Front, then join them in on Row 13 only.

1. Work 12 rows of frill pattern and then 12 rows of rib as set by the first 2 rows of Back pattern

2. Then hold the sts of your first frill on the spare needle immediately in front of Back sts making sure that the ribs are matched. You should now be holding both needles in one hand

3. Using a third needle held in the other hand join in the trim by inserting the needle through the first st on back needle and then through the first st on a front needle

4. Wrap the yarn round the needle to put the sts together

5. Drop each st off its respective needle

6. Once the first trim has been joined in work a further 11 rows in rib then repeat Row 13 for joining in the second trim

PATTERN NOTES

The top edge border pattern is worked separately then grafted on. If you find this difficult you could cast off the border and main knitting using three needles. When knitting the main pattern the use of stitch markers helps to keep the different stitch panels separate. The pattern is in both written and chart form for whichever you prefer to follow.

Row 9: K1, (k4, yo, s11, k2tog, pssso, yo, k5) 5 times, k5 to sm.

Row 11 (working on 127 sts): S11, k10, mel st, k5, mel st, k71, mel st, k5, mel st, k11.

Row 13 and 15: S11, k to end.

Row 17: S11, k10, mel st, (k5, mel st) to last 11 sts, k11.

Rows 19 and 21: As row 13.

Row 23: As row 17.

Rows 25 and 27: As row 13.

Thus ending on a RS row.

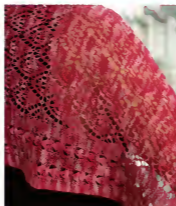

Break yorn and leave these sts on spare needle.

TOP BORDER

Cast on and work border patt as before then work 6 rows of st st with 3 st border at each end of row ending on a WS row.

Break yorn.

With RS facing place two bits of knitting on a flat surface and graft the two pieces together using kitchener stitch. ●

Really Useful Box Storage Units

We now stock a complete range of storage units to house Really Useful boxes. These units are supplied with solid shelves which are fully adjustable so can be used for other items instead of the boxes if required eg. books or tools.

Each of the boxes are stored on separate shelves allowing each box to be removed from the unit independently. The units can house a selection of Really Useful boxes:

The units can be supplied empty (just with shelves) if you already have the boxes or we have put together a range of units complete with a selection of boxes.

The units are available in a range of widths to store a complete selection of 12x12, A4 and A3 boxes. There is also a choice of different heights ranging from our under desk 70cm (27.5") unit to our tall cabinet size of 190cm (75") tall. There are also desks available to house the 70cm units and doors available for certain sizes.

Instructions

TO FINISH OFF

Sew shoulder seams using an overstitch.

Armhole edging

Using 4.5mm hook, make both armhole edgings the same. With RS facing, join yarn at centre of underarm edge.

Rnd 1: Dc around armhole edge.

Join with a ss into first dc.

Rnd 2: 1 ch, 1 dc into same st as joining st,

1 dc in each of next 2 sts, *3 ch,

1 dc in same st as last dc (picot made),

1 dc in each of next 3 sts,

rep from * around, join with ss into first dc.

Fasten off.

Front bodice and neck edging

Work in rows using 4.5mm hook.

With RS facing, join yarn at bottom centre at right front.

Row 1: Dc evenly up front edge, around neck and down left front edge (do not join).

Fasten off.

With RS facing, join yarn in first st on right front.

Row 2: 1 ch, 1 dc in joining st, 1 dc in each of next 2 sts, *3 ch, 1 dc in same st as last dc (picot made), 1 dc in each of next

2 sts, rep from * around right front, neck and down left side.

Fasten off.

Sew buttons onto left-hand side, corresponding with buttonholes (use the picot edging as buttonholes).

Sew side seams together.

Bottom edging

Starting with RS facing and at right-hand bottom edge (working upside down), and using 5.5mm hook, rejoin yarn into a 3 ch sp. Make 1 tr, 5 dtr, 1 tr into each 3 ch sp around bottom at front and back edge.

Join at end with a ss into top of first tr and fasten off. Sew in ends. ●

HELP WITH CROCHET

Chain Stitch (ch)

Hold hook in right hand. Wind yarn round middle finger of left hand. Take yarn round hook (yih), going under then over the last yarn. Hold the bottom knot of the slip knot down. Firmly pull the yarn in the curve of the hook through the loop

(1a) to form a chain stitch and repeat (1b).

The first chain forms your foundation row.

1a

1b

Double crochet (dc)

Row 1: Insert hook through third chain, yarn round

hook (yih) and draw a loop

through the chain.

There are now 2 loops on the hook. Yarn round hook, pull through both loops to complete dc stitch.

*Insert hook through next chain, yih, draw loop

through, yih, pull through both loops.

Repeat from * to end of chain (2).

Turn. The 2 ch you missed out at the start of the row are counted as 1 dc on top of 1 ch. To start the next row, you work 2 ch and turn.

Row 2: Miss the first dc (the one that the 2 ch is sitting on).

*Insert hook through top

2 loops of the next dc, yih

and pull loop through, yih, pull through 2 loops.

Repeat from * to end.

Don't forget the 2 chain right at the end - make a dc in to the edge of these or you will lose a stitch at the end of each row.

Work 2 ch (turning chain), turn. Rep row 2 for the number of dc rows needed.

2

Half treble

Take yarn over hook then

insert into stitch

(or a starting chain).

Yarn over hook again and pull a loop through.

There are 3 loops on hook (3).

Take yarn over hook again and pull through all 3 loops, leaving 1 stitch on hook.

3

Treble

Work a half treble until there are 3 loops on hook.

Yarn over hook, pull through

2 loops.

Yarn over hook,

pull through the other

2 loops (4).

Bliss loves Crafts

Bliss has launched their latest initiative, getting in on the craft club action.

Last month Bliss, the UK's special care baby charity, launched a fun and innovative way to support a worthwhile cause whilst doing something you love – Bliss loves Crafts. Bliss has teamed up with some great contemporary knitting designers and retailers from around the UK to offer a range of benefits for members of their Bliss loves Crafts online club. Members will receive free access to beautiful, exclusively designed baby clothing patterns from tiny premature sizes to full term baby sizes and beyond.

Julia Billington, Bliss' Individual Giving manager told us, "The popularity of baby knits inspired us to create a unique way for knitting enthusiasts to help the UK's most vulnerable babies. Bliss loves Crafts!"

Bliss is giving away free gifts, providing discount offers and publishing a regular monthly supply of really beautiful knitting projects. Not all special care baby units are able to accept knitted items, so Bliss has published a list of those units which accept knitted items so members of Bliss Crafts can knit a little hat or card and send it to a baby to wear. Julia says, "Staff on the neonatal unit allow parents to choose from the items that are donated. Dressing their baby in hand-knitted items not only helps many parents to become more involved in caring for their baby whilst their baby is staying in hospital, but also aids the bonding process during what can be a really traumatic time for families."

Benefits of Bliss loves Crafts membership

You don't have to have babies to get involved, Bliss is offering some great stuff for kids and adult patterns too. With Bliss loves Crafts, whether you decide to knit specially designed baby garments for use in special care hospital units or simply knitting items for you, your family or friends, by signing up as a member, you will be helping to fund Bliss' vital work with vulnerable babies and their families.

If you would like to help babies born too soon, too small or too sick, then log onto www.bliss.org.uk/crafts to find out more. The first 100 people to sign up to Bliss Crafts will receive a free gift – either a lovely Susan Crawford bag or a gorgeous Dehinc Bliss on knitting accessories and craft materials, free subscription to our regular e-newsletter plus chances to win fabulous prizes!

If you love knitting and like to know that by doing something you love you are supporting a very worthy cause, visit the Bliss Crafts club page today at www.bliss.org.uk/crafts

Bliss would love as many people as possible to join the Bliss loves Crafts club whether as an individual or companies willing to donate their products or designs to feature on the site. If your company would like to get involved please contact Maggie Allen at Bliss on maggiea@bliss.org.uk or call 020 7378 1122. ●

Subscriptions cost just £2.50 a month or £25 a year. There's group membership too for only £45. By joining Bliss' online club, members will have free access to beautiful baby clothing patterns from tiny premature sizes to full term baby sizes and beyond, discount offers

About Bliss

Over 80,000 babies are born prematurely or sick every year in the UK.

- Prematurity is the most common cause of infant death in the UK
- It is almost twice as common as breast cancer, and more than twice as common as prostate cancer, yet remains one of the most poorly resourced areas of the NHS
- Survival rates have improved over the past 30 years but the UK still has a higher rate of infant mortality than any of its Western European neighbours
- 95% of neonatal units are taking in more babies than they have enough staff or resources for

Bliss provides practical and emotional support for families, campaigns tirelessly for improved hospital resources and funds cutting-edge research.

Visit the Bliss website www.bliss.org.uk for more information, to download exclusive patterns and to visit the dedicated area on the Bliss message board for you to exchange tips, helpful hints and questions with other knitters.

MATCH THE SWATCH

To match the sizes and measurements given in our patterns you must make a tension swatch (gauge) before knitting the project. If your swatch turns out larger than ours, try again using smaller needles. If it is too small, try larger needles.

SEWING UP

- 1 Before you sew knitted pieces together, pin the pieces flat to the measurements given on our diagrams.
- 2 Steam press, lightly steam or spray lightly with water depending on washing instructions on the ball band.
- 3 Allow pieces to cool and dry before sewing up.
- 4 To sew up use the yarn you knitted with. Or, if the yarn is textured and hard to sew, use a smooth matching yarn – cotton with cotton, wool with wool, etc.
- 5 Many garments can be made up by sewing shoulder seams first, then setting in sleeve head to armhole then completing by sewing along the long seam of the sides and sleeves. Each pattern has extra tips where necessary.
- 6 Do all in all ends and finish seams by lightly steaming from wrong side, provided the yarn can be steamed.

CHOOSING ALTERNATIVE YARNS

- 3 Choose a merin yarn that you like, with a similar look, composition and weight to the one in the old pattern.
- 2 Knit a tension switch (gauge) and compare it to the one given in the pattern. If they both come out to the same size, you're onto a winner!
- 3 Calculate how much yarn to buy. Many patterns tell you the length of yarn in each ball as well as the weight. So if the pattern uses 10 balls of 130 metres per ball, you know you need up to 1,300 metres of yarn. Check the length per ball of your new yarn and divide the total yarn length by the length in 1 ball to get the number of balls you need to make the item.
- 4 Compare the total weight of each yarn length. For example if the original pattern had 10 balls at 50g each, the total weight would be 500g. Now that you have worked out how many balls of new yarn you are buying, just multiply the number of balls by the weight per ball. That should roughly match the 500g total that you had for the old yarn. It's just another way to check that you are on the right track.
- 5 Use this same method to substitute yarns for modern patterns, where the yarn is so expensive or difficult to obtain, or if you just want to use up yarn in your stash.

Make do and mend

Q I am a frustrated knitter who for my background of make do and mend decided to unpick my husband's Fairisle sweater from the rib down as it had seen better days. When it came to casting off I found the first cast off too tight so did the next cast off on larger needles. This has ended up rolling up at the base – how sad is this – perhaps you can help in advising me how to cast off corrugated rib (K2a colour p2b colour) when knitting downwards to the hem of a sweater?

Eileen Corn, by email

A With the current economic climate in mind there's nothing wrong with a bit of make do and mend, I've been known to do a bit of it myself. Corrugated ribbing provides a more interesting and decorative contrast to the main patterning in Fairisle sweaters and is less stretchy than a normal rib structure. As your initial cast off was too tight my first suggestion would have been to cast off on larger needles but the rolling up suggests that it is now too loose. Try casting off using the original sized needle but using a doubled end of your main yarn. This should bulk out the cast off slightly making it a little looser than normal but not enough to curl up at the edge.

Alternative yarn

Q I was hoping to knit the mohair long jumper from Knitting Issue 71 Christmas 2009. I am however having difficulty in finding the wool. I phoned the Thomas Ramsden Group (Wendy yarns) recently, who are listed as the stockist. I was however told that this wool had been discontinued, and could not offer any substitute. I then found that Rowan did Kid Mohair, but of $6.75 per 25g ball. This would mean buying 22 balls of 25g, therefore costing £138.50 – far too much money. On page 22 of Issue 71 it suggests the item could be knitted from £31 – rather a big difference. I should be very pleased therefore if you could suggest a substitute that I might use. Looking forward to hearing from you.

Mis Jaan M Hunt by email

A It's always difficult (and a bit frustrating) when you set your mind on knitting a design only to find that the yarn has been

As you mentioned it is no longer available so my first substitute suggestion is Rowan's Kid Classic, rather than Kidslik Haze, which is the yarn you mention above. Kidslik Haze is much finer and softer than the Wendy yarn and so really wouldn't be suitable. Kid

Q A lace pattern I have includes larger sizes but gives no instructions for them when increasing for the sleeves, just "keep with the lace pattern." I have to increase by 20 stitches (10 on each side over 10 rows) but the lace pattern is over 20 rows. How do I approach this, when there will be sufficient stitches to form the pattern initially? It would be useful to know, as many designers don't seem to scale up their designs. Instead leaving it to knitters to work out. Thank you for any help you can give.

The trick to working any lace pattern is every 'yo' (yarn over) which creates a stitch should be balanced by a decrease such as '2tog' or 'ssk'. The initial instructions for the sleeves will probably have set out the repeats across the row so that the pattern is placed centrally on the sleeve. Placing a stitch marker at each edge of your sleeve's pattern repeat will help to identify this initial placement and as you increase, the new stitches will occur outside those markers.

highlighter pen to pair up each 'yo' with its corresponding 'k2tog/ssk'. This will help to give you an idea of exactly where they occur in each row and therefore how many increased stitches you need to have before you can bring them into the pattern. Charled instructions are even better as they make it easier to identify exactly where your new stitches can be incorporated into the pattern.

For example, the chart shows a lace pattern repeat with sleeve shaping marked out in red. On Row 11 where you have 5 increased stitches, the pattern determines the stitch 1 should be ss followed by p4 but because there isn't a yo to balance it you should work it in stocking stitch (i.e. knit 1). On the following right side row the pattern moves in a stitch and a further increase means you will be able to work both the yo and the ssk that follows it. As your sleeve becomes wider and you gain another full repeat's worth of stitches place another set of markers on each side to help you keep track.

The figure shows a 4x4 grid of 16 small diagrams, each representing a stage in the evolution of a pattern of black dots on a white background. The diagrams are arranged in four rows and four columns. The pattern starts as a single dot in the top-left cell of the first diagram and spreads to fill the grid by the fourth iteration.

PURL About TOWN

Laura 'Purl Princess' Parkinson discovers a whole new world of knitting in children's books and invites you to flick through Flo's growing library with her.

We have always made a real point of reading to our daughter Florence, even when she was too young to hold a book she had heard everything from classic fairy tales to what Barney the dinosaur thought of the weather. The Mr and I hoped that a story every night before bed would make books an important part of her life and I am glad to say that this has already begun to work. Flo's favourite pastime at the moment is to sit in front of her bookcase and pull each book out onto the floor, flick/rip through a few pages and eventually become literally buried under a pile of books. Although this makes for a very regular re-shelving operation I'm glad that she's not glued to the TV!

I think that books are such a lovely present for a child. It is especially thoughtful when someone buys them a book that has a subject or character reflecting something personal or important in your own life. Given my woolly background we seem to have started a little library of knitting related stories.

The first was actually a birthday present for me from Florence. She was only two months old at the time so I'm pretty sure the Mr might have helped her to research and purchase it, but it is perhaps my most memorable birthday present to date. Mr. Nick's Knitting by Margaret Wild and Dee Haxley is an Australian children's book about a man who knits on the train to work with his friend Mrs. Jolley. One day Mrs. Jolley gets ill and has to stay in hospital for a long time and so Mr. Nick knits her a beautiful blanket to brighten her empty hospital room. The subject of the book was perfectly poignant when I received it, as we were still in hospital with a very ill Florence who, at the time, was smuggled up under the colourful knitted blanket that I had lovingly made for her. Apart from having this very personal connection to the book, I love that the main character is male, which goes against the classic female-only knitting stereotype, making it more accessible to boys and girls that grow up with this story. More male knitting characters please!

The next knitting related children's book Flo received was Little Bear's Big Jumper by David Bedford and Caroline Pedler. This super cute tale is about an older brother bear, who has grown out of the knitted jumper his mother made him. The jumper is handed down to his baby brother bear who manages to make a mess of the jumper and hides until his older brother finds him by following the trail of yarn left behind. The lovely thing about this story is that it is a 'touch and feel' book which means that all of the pictures of the jumper and trailing yarn feel fuzzy when you touch the page. This is especially nice when you have to follow the woolly textured yarn through the woods to find the unravelling jumper. A real attention to detail is what makes this book so appealing, but perhaps only a knitter will appreciate that each individual stitch of the jumper has been lovingly drawn in?

Our most recent addition to the collection is Knitting Nell by Julie Jersild Roth. This is a very sweet children's book from the US, which tells the tale of an extremely kind but introverted girl called Nell - who loves to knit, of course. When Nell is bullied she becomes increasingly shy so that even her friends begin to ignore her. Through her knitting Nell's confidence grows and soon even her friends want her to teach them to knit. I think that this book would be perfect for an older child who is battling with their own shyness, whether they are a knitter or not, as the yarn and needles could easily be a metaphor for any activity that the shy young person is immersed in.

It gives me a lovely feeling when I read any of these stories to Florence, as I feel like she's getting to know things about me while I'm still learning about her each day. I'm sure that there are many more books out there to add to Flo's knitting story library. I just have to work out a way to stop her from chewing the corners. ●

Must make:

Crochet your own 'Very Hungry Caterpillar' with the free pattern on Ravelry.com. It's sure to be a hit with the little ones and I think that crochet makes for much better chewing than knitting.

Knitting read:

If you're a little more traditional then Nursery Rhyme Knits will be right up your street. It is filled with hats, mittens and scarves covered in kids' favourite verses - my personal favourite being the 'Mary Had A Little Lamb' song. It'll have you counting sheep till you fall asleep!
